A1 · INSTRUCTOR HANDOUT

A change to the brief

Instructor handout: release only after the first information-sheet draft exists.
Original fictional communication task • Use with A1-Q16–A1-Q17.

The visit has changed

The learner will have about one minute to review your information sheet. The printed copy will be black and white.

They want the three answers easy to find and do not want to rely on colour:

1. Where does the paving material come from?
2. Who owns the road in the fictional project?
3. Does a shorter delivery route prove which material is greener?

Revise your sheet to no more than 90 words. Keep the three answers and the labels or qualifications needed to avoid a misleading claim. Do not reduce the font size to fit more words.

Before revising, identify what changed, one useful feature to keep and one feature to change. Record a strategy that helps you continue, such as checking priorities, asking a clear question or trying a simpler layout.

Swap sheets with a partner. Ask them to locate each answer and identify anything unclear. Use their feedback to make one justified improvement. Check your word count and keep both drafts.

Instructor reminder: This change creates evidence of Adaptability. The first draft must use the original task conditions before learners receive this card.
